GRAVE CHARGES AGAINST A WOMAN. 7. MARCO ALLEGES THAT HIS SISTER-IN-LAW

rife, Gazella, died a week ago from supposed arsenite of copper poisoning, went to the Lee Avenue Police Court yesterday accompanied by his wife's stepmother, Mrs. Roseneck, and told a remarkable story. He alleged that his wife had been poisoned by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Rebecca Marco, who lives at No. 175 Harrison-ave. Mrs. Marco is a widow, her husband having died about a year ago. Mrs. Roseneck. Marco's mother-in-law, alleges that the dead woman before she died declared that she had seen her sister-in-law put something in the coffee which she gave her. After something in the coffee which she gave her. After drinking it she had become violently ill. Marco alleged that his sister-in-law was infatuated with him. After her husband died, she had asked him to marry her. He had been engaged at the time to marry her sister. The woman had been jealous of his wife and had insisted upon nursing her in her illness. At one time she had given her an overdose of medicine, and when speken to about it had replied that she knew her business.

Justice Geetting told Marco that he would take the matter of issuing a warrant under consideration and consult Coroner Creamer.

HELD TO ANSWER A CHARGE OF ARSON. Ludovick Pawlack, who carries on a tailoring establishment on the ground floor of the tenement-house, No. 799 Bedford-ave., was arrested yester-day by Policeman Hughes, of the Thirteenth Pre-cinct, and arraigned before Justice Goetting on a charge of arson. A few minutes after 3 o'clock yesterday morning Policeman Hughes saw smeke pouring from the ground floor of the building, and immediately turned in an alarm. Hughes then re-turned to the house and larm. immediately turned in an alarm. Hughes then returned to the house and began to arouse the inmates living on the apper floors. When the tenants were awakened they rushed from their apartments into the hallways which were filled with snocke, and found their way to the street. They were dressed only in their night clothing, and in their anxiety to escape tumbled over one another in going down the stairs. Several were slightly hurt this way. When the firemen arrived they found Pawlack's apartments deserted, and the floor in Pawlack's apartments deserted, and the fire they found another fire in the bedreom. The door they found another fire in the bedreom. The door was locked, and the firemen had to break in the door. Officer Hughes arrested Pawlack at 7.30 clock as he was returning to his home. He was unable to explain his absence from his home all night. The prisoner denied all knowledge of the lire, and was held to abswer.

Much interest is taken in the annual election of the Board of Education, District No. 4, which takes place on October 2, despite the fact that the practice is to eliminate all politics from school matters. The purpose is to select candidates who are qualified to give able and effective service in the interest of keeping up, if not improving, the standard of study and the school discipline. At a caucus held on Tuesday evening the following ticket was decided upon: C. M. Moseman, Willcaucus held on Tuesday exhibit ticket was decided upon: C. M. Moseman, William H. Bard and Lieutenant Henry E. Rhoades, trustees for three years; Thomas R. Hodge, district treasurer, and Frederick Earl, district clerk. The latter has been cierk of the board for several years, and Mr. Hodge is popular. Messrs. Moseman and Bard have been members of the board for the last three years. The Rev. Thornton B. Penfield, who has charge of the young people's department of the Presbyterian Home Missionary Society, New-York, will speak at the "rallying service" of the First Presbyterian Church to-mornow. The Sunday-school and the Christian Endeavor Society will take part in the services.

The articles remaining unsold of the Chester Hill Club booth at the Mount Vernon Hospital Fair will be put up at auction at the clubhouse to-night.

ATTACKED AND BEATEN BY HIGHWAYMEN. Ex-Assemblyman Ferdinand Blancke, who is one of the largest property owners in Linden Township, had a thrilling encounter Thursday night with highwaymen in St. George-ave., between Elizabeth and Rahway. Mr. Blancke was accompanied by his coachman, and the two were jogging leisurely home in a road wagon. At a lonely part of the road they were suddenly confronted by two masked road they were suddenly confronted by two masked men, who grabbed the horse by the bridle and ordered the occupants of the wagon to give up their money. The conchman jumped to the ground and attacked the robber who held the horse. The other highwayman, seeing this, clambered into the rear of the wagon and attacked Mr. Blancke with a sandbag, The ex-Assemblyman is over sixty years old, and, being defenceless, tried to ward off with his arms the blows aimed at his head. The coachman, who meanwhile had put the other thief to flight, ran to his employer's rescue, Between them they managed to throw the highwayman out of the wagon, and before he could regain his feet they whipped up the horse and dashed away from the spot. Mr. Blancke's arms and shoulders are badly bruised from the blows he received.

The Beerbower Pottery Works here, employing esume operations next Monday with a full force, resume operations next Monday with a full force. The Pacific Rubber Works, which had also suspended, have reopened, and sixty persons are employed. In a couple of weeks it is expected the plant will be running on full time. The New-Jersey Copper Extraction Works also felt the financial depression, and closed their doors some weeks ago, but have again started up with half the number of workmen. The superintendent says that in another week the plant will be running to its fullest capacity.

JERSEY CITY.

The attention of the Hudson County Circuit Court, at Jersey City, was occupied yesterday by the suit of Mrs. Emma L. Deshong, of North Vineland, N. J., to recover from the Merchants Insurance Company, of Newark, $1,000, for which amount she had insured her furniture, destroyed by fire in 1852. At the time Mrs. Deshong was acting as housekeeper in the family of John L. Mason whose house and burn were destroyed by the same fire. Mrs. Deshong testified that she hought the furniture from Mason because Mrs. Mason was ill and had to seek a change of climate, Mason and his family bearding with her. Edward A Sprague, who worked for Mason, testified that Sprague, who worked for Mason, testified that Mason hired him to burn the house and barn, promising him $1.990. Mrs. Deshong, he said, was a party to the affair, and the furniture alleged to have been lost was boxed up and sent to New-York. Sprague also testified that Mason prepared six boxes of pine-knots, each box being provided with a candle, which he (Mason) distributed through the house. Mason had then sent the witness a letter, telling him to fire the house the night he received it, provided that the wind was east. The wind had blown from the east that night, and he had lighted the candles, and the house and barn were burned. Sprague dended that he had received a promise of $100 by the insurance company for his testimony. Mrs. Strague corroborated her husband's testimony. The case will go on Monday.

A GOOD PLACE TO BUY DRESS GOODS.

The great dry-goods store of H. C. F. Koch & and-twenty-fifth-st, is a favorite place for shop-pers in the uptown district. The announcement of the fall opening of the store has created wide-spread interest there. Thousands of buyers of dress goods and those who are seekers after the latest goods and those who are seekers after the latest fall styles visit the store daily. There are new fall designs in dross goods of most attractive and beautiful patierns. The iridose of shocks this fall seem to meet the most favor, and of this class of goods the firm has a zreat variety. One of the latest "makes" in dross goods is named after Miss Loie Fuller. It is a light-colored slik wood, and like the French and German novelties to be seen, it is selling rapidly. The firm also has a long line of changeable nopsacking and whipeord, fancy jacquards and camal's-hair goods, and they, too, having yadmirers and huyers. The clouk department of this popular firm is filled with new, handseme and fashlonable patients. The short military cape with its fine fur trimming is displayed in a large variety of designs. The milliery department is on a par in attractiveness with the other departments of the store. The designs in hats are countiess.

ANTI-MILITARY BILL OF JULES GUESDE-GER-MAN MONEY FOR FRENCH SOCIALISTS! ELECTION EXPENSES.

According to a recent cable dispatch from Paris M. Jules Guesde, the Socialist, intends to introduce at the coming session of the Chamber of Deputies a bill providing for the abolition of the standing army, which bill is to be introduced also in the Sen

Although M. Jules Guesde is a diplomatic So cialist. little prone to divulge beforehand his plan of campaign, it may be that he has really disclosed to some enterprising interviewer what he intends to do in the French Chamber, M. Walter is not known as belonging to the Senate, and may have been confused with M. Walter, the So-cialist Mayor of St. Denis, near Paris, who was recently elected a Deputy, and who would sup-port the motion of his friend Guesde. The latter, n proposing the abolition of the standing army may not secure all the votes of the fifty Social-ists in the new French Chamber, whose leadership he would like to assume; but he would give a practical and parliamentary shape to the interna tionalist doctrines which are among socialistic dogmas, and which he recently advocated in his answers to the accusations launched at his party by the "Temps" and other Morerate Republican

During the last electoral campaign it was shown that the German Socialist organization had for warded 2,500 francs to help the election of French Socialists, and notably that of M. Chauvin, a hairdresser, now a Deputy. Charges of unpatriotic conduct were made on that occasion against the French Socialist party. M. Jules Guesde answered, in a letter published by the Paris newspapers, that this the repayment of a similar amount of money which had been forwarded by French Socialists to help their German friends in the last electoral campaign in Germany. He reminded the Moderate Republi-cans that they had in 1869 accepted 200,000 france from the Italian capitalist. Chernuschi, to help the lection of some Anti-Imperialist Deputies in Paris; Prussian, Baron Hirsch, 50,000 francs to secure the triumph of the Opportunist candidates against Boulanger's partisans. M. Guesde, however, denied that his own election at Roubalx had been saluted that his own election at Roubaix had been saluted with the cry of "Down with the country!" and he intimated that the Socialists would not be the last to light for France if she were threatened or invaded by a foreign foe. Still, he declared the Socialist party was internationalist, and the best way to prevent war was to abolish standing armies. This is also the theory of German Socialists, who will probably make in the German Reichstag, the Utopian proposition for a general disarmament, if M. Guesde introduces, as stated in the dispatch, his metion for the abolition of the standing army in France.
